

Niagara Excursion-ists Have Big Time

With weather conditions perfect and everyone in a spirit of joviality, the long-talked-of trip to Niagara Falls was a huge success.

When the train pulled out of Grayling there were only ten coaches and not over half of the local excursionists could find seats; the rest of them amused themselves by milling back and forth through the coaches and looking the crowd over until we reached Roscommon, where extra coaches were taken on. They were added as needed until we reached Detroit and when we were finally on our way there were fourteen passenger coaches, a diner and a baggage car. Everyone had plenty of "sitting room" but sleeping was impossible.

The trip down is one that we will always remember. The excellent spirits of all the passengers, the celebrating, the joining of friends and relatives along the way, and most of all, the perfectly natural desire to get acquainted with the strangers, who, before the trip ended, seemed like old friends.

It was close to eight-thirty a. m. when we finally reached Niagara and another hour that we were side-tracked on the edge of the town, waiting for the other trains. After we once landed, the crowd was so immense that we saw very little of our friends besides those in our own party, since there were other excursions from Kalamazoo, Grand Rapids, etc. However, the crowd was not so immense that we couldn't manage to see "everything." Excursion busses, taxis, and auto busses took eager sightseers to every point of interest at a very nominal charge, explaining, guiding, and giving the history of each landmark. As far as the weather was concerned, it was ideal—with the sun shining brightly and forming natural rainbows in the spray from the falls. When asked how we liked the falls, all we can say is, "They are beautiful." That covers everything—the different variations, the sparkle of the mist and the large area taken in by the falls were so enchanting that it seemed unreal.

However, everyone was in such a state of exhaustion after the general excitement had somewhat abated, that they were glad to get a good meal. Many saw a movie, nearly everyone shopped for souvenirs, and finally, two hours before train time, nearly everyone was glad to go back to the coaches and rest or read until time to leave.

The home trip was made in record time with everyone getting just as much sleep as possible, but, miraculously, still enjoying himself and herself immensely. Ask anyone who went how they enjoyed the trip—most of them will say, "The falls are beautiful—it was well worth the money."

Among those who made the trip from Grayling were: Raymond Wylie, Wilbur Swanson, Einer and Emil Tahvonen, Everett Bidvia, Mrs. Leo Gannon, Ernie and Leslie Hunter, Elwood and Wilfred Robarge, Bill Hunter Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Bill LaGrow, Mrs. Herluf Sorenson and Elna Mae, Louise and Martha Sorenson, Mrs. William Moshier and son Charles, Mrs. Albert Knibbs and daughter Alberta, Georgiana Olson, Veronica Lovely, Margaret Buck, Bert Conter Jr., Benedict Morris, John Henry Peterson, Jack Hull, Frances Corwin, Mrs. Gable Clise, Mrs. Lillian Ryan, Grace Jones, Gloria McNeven, Nadine McNeven, Ethel Richards, Muriel DeLaMater, Leland Marshall, Walter Skingley, Sam Gust, George Lietz, Francis Heath, Mrs. Efner Lietz, Stephan Jorgenson, Archie and Herbert Feldhauser, Mr. and Mrs. Thorwald Sorenson and several others.

SCHOOL TO OFFER PIANO INSTRUCTIONS.

The following letter was sent to parents of Grayling school children this week. The piano instruction method to be taught is a successful approach to a pressing problem. It is offered in many school systems and requires the direction of the Visual Method College. A very modest cost per pupil is necessary for those who wish to secure this service. The meeting of Friday afternoon in the school auditorium will furnish the details of the course.

Dear Parent: The Visual Piano Class instruction will be taught in your school this year.

This course of study is now being taught in the majority of the public school systems of Michigan and a number in Indiana with great success and we feel that it will be of value to our schools.

Edith Pierce, Supervising Normal Instructor from the Visual Method College of Detroit, will give a demonstration of this work on Friday afternoon, September 27, at 4:15 o'clock.

We will appreciate your attendance at this demonstration. You will find it very instructive and interesting.

Yours truly,

Gerald Poor, Superintendent of Schools.

SILVER WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Mrs. H. A. Bauman, Miss Margaret Bauman and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hanson were hosts at a very charming dinner given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Esbern Hanson, who celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary Saturday.

At the Bauman summer home the fourteen guests found their places at a long table, centered with an artistically arranged silver basket. Nearly all of the table appointments were carried out in silver, one lovely feature being a silver and white wedding cake.

Mrs. Hanson wore a shoulder bouquet of white variegated flowers tied with silver ribbon, the gift of Mr. Hanson and son, Esbern Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Hanson were the recipients of many floral gifts, gifts of silver, as well as congratulatory telegrams and cards from relatives and friends.

Esbern Hanson, Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Hanson came home from Crystal to be in attendance at the dinner.

Kiwanians Hear Hollywood Star

CHAPLAIN CONNOLLY TALKS ON CCC WORK.

Grayling Kiwanians were doubly fortunate in their Wednesday's program when the usual speaking program was augmented by high class entertainment. Chaplain J. L. Connolly, of Higgins Lake CCC camp, spoke on the subject "The CCC Organization, A New Venture." And Nancy Welford, a former Hollywood celebrity, gave a few musical numbers taken from "The Gold Diggers" a play in which she had a prominent part. And Mr. Theodore Cobb, who enjoys a long stage career, an uncle of Miss Welford, made a few complimentary comments about the principles of Kiwanis club and entertained with impersonations and witty stories. Altogether it was a very enjoyable program.

Nancy Welford, as she is known on the screen and stage, is Mrs. Nancy Welford Cobb, having married a nephew of the above Mr. Cobb. The latter, with his wife, owns a summer home on West Twin Lake near Lewisport, where they enjoy their leisure hours. Mr. Cobb is sales manager for the Ferry-Morse Seed Co. of Detroit. Both he and his talented niece proved to be very charming and interesting. The latter has a wonderful voice. She isn't very large—we might say, just right; is decidedly blond and, contrary to general public opinion of Hollywood players, does not smoke nor drink intoxicating liquors. During the past several weeks she was one of the players at Navin Field dramatic presentations. With them was Mrs. Winfield Welford, Detroit, a guest at the Cobb Twin Lake home.

The CCC Organization, a New Venture.

It was hard to crowd a talk on such an interesting subject as the CCC camps into a few minutes, however Chaplain Connolly in a brief time told a lot about what those camps mean and what they are doing for the youth of America. In part he said as follows:

No government in the world had to face a greater emergency in the moral and educational, as well as the financial affairs of her citizens as the American government in the last few years. The depression was a world-wide calamity but we had to face the situation for our own people, naturally.

Should every new venture our present administration has tried be thrown into discard, CCC organization will stand out as the greatest venture of value that any government has ever brought into being. Our great industrial leaders declared themselves powerless to act and the gates of mighty industrial plants were shut, throwing millions of our people out of a livelihood. Youth, with its venturesomeness and vitality, would be a destructive force if not challenged by work and provided with means of expending energy. They must have work and money and the only agency that proved itself as not being impotent was our American government. It arose to the occasion and has been constantly proving its ability to meet the urgent needs of young manhood.

This organization is primary a school. Here the young men learn the English language in all its phases and values. Geology, first aid, letter writing, radio, etiquette, newspaper work, forestry, blister-rust control, etc., are among subjects taught. These boys are realizing their responsibilities to their community life, learn how to get along with others in present society, how to meet emergencies, how to appreciate the value of government, American freedom and the American home life.

This is a permanent organization, as has been declared by President Franklin Roosevelt, and is the foundation of greater things to come.

CARELESSNESS

Michigan's Annual Fire Loss, which runs from $7,000,000 to $21,000,000 with about 20,000 fires occurring annually with the state, can be prevented through careful efforts of property owners.

Statistics show that 90% of all fires are due to carelessness, whereby each citizen within the State of Michigan should use every possible effort to prevent fires, not only during the Fire Prevention Week—October 6 to 12 inclusive—but throughout the year.

"Wolverine" Exhibit Car Here Oct. 3-4

Through the efforts of Conservation Officer Harry Saunders, Grayling will be included in the itinerary of the conservation exhibit railroad car the "Wolverine," it was announced today. The car will arrive here at 11:00 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 3 and will remain until 11:00 p. m. Friday, Oct. 4. It will arrive via the Michigan Central Railroad one of the several Michigan roads cooperating in making the tour possible.

The Wolverine is being routed through Michigan by the Department of Conservation as a part of its campaign to educate adults and the youths of the state as to the needs for conservation program.

The car is loaded with educational exhibits which include everything from furs to dioramas, and is said to exceed in variety and interest the exhibits placed by the Department for several years at the state fair and which attracted state-wide attention.

In addition to the dioramas picturing various phases of conservation work, will be specimens of Michigan's fish and game birds. Hunting, fishing and trapping equipment will be in the car together with the Department's highly lauded collection of Michigan scenic murals.

Considerable space in the car is devoted to forest fire prevention, detection and control with miniatures of fire fighting equipment.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT CITES TOURIST TRADE.

The Federal Government in a bulletin issued last week from Washington cited the Michigan tourist trade as the greatest in the nation, estimating its worth at $300,000,000.

Burial of Lafayette When Lafayette died in France his grave was filled with American earth and his body wrapped in the Stars and Stripes.

Grayling people were saddened this week, by the death of Christopher Hemmingson, who passed away, Monday evening, following a lingering illness. He became ill nearly two years ago and gradually failed in health, passing away quietly at his home.

The deceased was born at Stegemoen, Denmark, July 21, 1854, and came to Grayling directly from Denmark in November of 1890. At that time the lumber business was in full swing and Mr. Hemmingson had ample opportunity to follow his profession, which was wheel-maker and carpenter. The village was just being built up and many of Grayling's first homes were built by Mr. Hemmingson, who also cleared the land for, and erected, the home which the family has occupied ever since.

In 1889, Mr. Hemmingson was united in marriage to Miss Mattie Rasmussen. Of this union five children were born, of which three are still living. Mrs. Hemmingson passed away while the children were still very small.

Mr. Hemmingson was a member of the Oddfellow Lodge and a member of the Danish Lutheran Church. He was always exceedingly well-liked both by his friends and by those who were connected with him in a business manner.

Brief services will be held at the home, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, followed by funeral services at the Danish Lutheran Church at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Elmwood cemetery.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Nellie Hart, of Traverse City, and Miss Margrethe, of Grayling; one son, Walter, of Highland Park; two sisters, Mrs. Marie Nelson, of Copenhagen, Denmark, and Mrs. Anna Bauer or Slesvig, Germany; and one brother, Heming Hemmingson, of Stegemoen, Denmark. There are also nine grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hemmingson and daughters, Elaine and Betty of Detroit have arrived to be here for the funeral.

The Avalanche joins with the many friends in extending sympathy to the family in their bereavement.

Rare Screamers Hatched in a Zoo

SENIORS IDEAS OF KIWANIS MEETING.

The senior class of Grayling high school was present as guests at the Kiwanis meeting last week and in order to get an idea of what the members thought of the meeting Supt. Gerald Poor requested each member to write his impressions in a single paragraph. From the group of replies the following were selected:

I was very much pleased in the way the Kiwanis members entertained the Senior Class. I think their speakers told us more about the Constitution than we have thought about before. They brought out some very fine points. It was also brought out that the Constitution had very much to do with our Public Schools today.

They brought the school into their group for the day in a very nice manner. The speeches were all very good and they brought in the school in every speech. They seem to be interested in what the future of the younger people will be. They explained different things, concerning our future depending on what we do in school now. The advantages we have over people who lived in earlier days. The Constitution was taken apart and explained so that it seemed clearer.

The speech which had the most affect on me was the one about the Federal Government and the Constitution. I believe in being quite conservative when it comes to stretching the laws in it. I don't believe that the words in it should be changed around or interpreted to fit any need you have. There have been many arguments about this but I'm right with him when he says "Go back to the horse and buggy days with the Constitution, rather than in the machine age without it."

I think it turned out well. The speeches that were given were interesting. The speech was good, telling all about the Constitution. I think the way they opened the meeting by singing "America" was a real plan. The speeches were not very long so that you got tired of listening to them before their time was up. I think it was well planned and the Senior Class got something out of it or at least should have. The Kiwanis Club was very kind to invite the class. Everything turned out fine.

I believe that anything like the Seniors attended yesterday was very good. In the first place the talks that were given just went on to show us what was meant by the Constitution week. It also helps you to know how to act when you are in public. It showed you how older people think of the United States and America in general. I think it is alright for a bunch of men to get together and know just how each one feels about certain things. I noticed that after they got done eating the men started in talking with each other and that is what I liked best of all because you would think they had known each other all their lives, but some hardly know each other. I liked the different songs that they sang. I believe that as a whole that the Senior Class really liked it very much, at least I know I did.

The speeches given were very clear and should help the Seniors to understand the Constitution and what it stands for more thoroughly. They should help us to appreciate our government and make us want to be good citizens. After what the speaker said about "Horse and Buggy Days" we should be glad that we have been able to bring the Constitution to date by amending it and therefore putting it on a level with our 20th Century ideas.

I think it gave us the thought that we should keep in mind to remember the Constitution because of the right and understanding it gives us. Make us try to be better citizens and Americans, and also try to make the country improve as much as we can. It showed the opportunity that we have had in school and interest the teachers take, so that we should appreciate the things that have been given us to realize all of them.

My idea of the affair was that it was fine and generous thing for the Kiwanis to invite us and the luncheon was perfect. The speeches were all very interesting and well directed. It brought out the object of the day very fine. My only regret of the affair was that we had to eat while the speakers were talking which

Falls Dead While Hearing Fight Report

Becoming extremely excited while listening to the Louis-Baer prize fight Tuesday night Simon Sivrais, passed away suddenly at his home. Mr. Sivrais together with Mrs. Sivrais was sitting close to the radio and it was at the beginning of the third round when the fight became so exciting that Mr. Sivrais toppled from his chair, dead. He had apparently been in pretty good health.

Mr. Sivrais had been a highly respected citizen of Grayling for over half a century coming here in 1883, in the good old lumbering days. He had always lived here since that time except for a few years when the family resided at Lovells and he was employed in the Douglas shingle mill. In Grayling he had worked in the various mills and at the time of his death was an employee of the Grayling Box Co. For some time years ago the family operated what was known then as the Manistee house, where the Fischer hotel now stands.

Simon Joseph Sivrais was born in Newport, Canada, June 26, 1859 and he grew to manhood there. It was after coming to Grayling that he met Miss Mary Lovely and they were married in the fall of 1881. Mrs. Sivrais survives together with the four daughters and two sons, Mrs. John Vaughn, Paul Sivrais, Detroit, Mrs. Gordon McLeod, Mrs. Harold Millard, Flint, Mrs. William Graham, Bay City and Ted Sivrais, Cheboygan. Also there are 12 grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Friday morning at 9:00 o'clock at St. Mary's church of which the deceased was a faithful member. He was also a loyal member of Holy Name society of the church. The Sivrais family have hosts of friends who extend sympathy to them in their bereavement.

Copies of the Public Acts of 1935 are now available at the Department of State at $1.50 per copy. The state pays parcel post charges within the state. Requests for copies must be accompanied by remittances in cash.

made it hard to listen, and I regret that there were not more speeches because of the interest I got from them. I also think that the songs chosen for the occasion were well picked.

We could hear about the review of the Constitution and what good it was to the people. We also got an idea of how the Kiwanis Club held their meeting and what they do at their meetings.

MICHIGAN MIGHT TAKE A LESSON

It is refreshing to report that at least one state has managed to avoid the fallacy that the way to create prosperity is to spend billions on credit—credit which must be based on all the savings and wealth, all the property, all the industries, all the earnings and other resources of the commonwealth.

That state is Nebraska, which is described by W. E. Christensen in an article in the New York Herald Tribune entitled "Sanity on the Prairies."

Nebraska has a new $10,000,000 capitol—without a penny of debt—standing against it.

Nebraska has a splendid highway system—without a single outstanding bond.

Nebraska's state tax, which provides the funds for supporting the state university, four normal schools and all other state activities, has averaged less than two mills per year during the last ten years.

Nebraska has no state income tax, no sales tax, no nuisance taxes. The state hasn't one cent of bonded indebtedness. Total bonded debt of its 93 counties, in July 1934, was but $6,247,000—of which a single county, Douglas, accounted for $4,500,000, leaving the small sum of $1,700,000 apportioned among the 92 remaining county governments.

This sounds like a taxpayers' Utopia, which it is. It hasn't been achieved through magic. Here, according to Mr. Christensen, is the four-sided plan Nebraska follows:

1. Pay as you go; issue no state bonds and few county bonds. 2. Reject new forms of taxation. 3. Watch public spending and the spenders. 4. Remember that even in these changing times the functions of local government are the same as they were 15 years ago and should cost no more.

The plan is simple. It is workable. It is sound. Nebraska has led the way toward economic sanity—other states should fall in line.—Midland Republican.

Ever since the law was passed compelling the Department of Conservation to pay a tax of ten cents an acre upon all of the lands they held outside of state forests and game refuges and parks, the Department has been trying to evade the law. As we remember, they took the matter to the supreme court where they were beaten. Then they paid the tax for a few years. However before former Attorney General O'Brien left office the Department secured an opinion from him to the effect that the law was unconstitutional or something to the effect. And we understand this opinion was recently affirmed by Attorney General Toy. At any rate the department lets it be known that they will respect opinions of the gentlemen and may not pay the tax. There is talk in many of the counties of the upper part of the state where the department holds a large acreage starting a movement to mandamus the department regarding the matter. The opinion of the Attorney General is to the effect that the tax should be paid out of the general fund of the state instead of from the game fund as the law states which makes it a matter for the Administrative Board to handle and this will mean that an evasion of the law has been attempted. As we have often stated we believe this law is a just one, and should be upheld, no matter where the money comes from to pay the tax. The Department of Conservation should not be permitted to own land tax free any more than the individual.—Atlanta Tribune.

THE POTATO REBELLION

Although the potato control law does not go into effect until December, it is already clear that its enforcement will present a problem to the government. At least one open rebellion against the measure has broken out in New Jersey, where a group of thirty-five farmers have boldly announced that "we shall produce on our own land such potatoes as we may wish to produce and will dispose of them in such manner as we may deem proper." If they produce and sell more than five bushels of potatoes apiece the embattled farmers will each be subject to a fine of not more than $1,000; if they repeat the offense they may be imprisoned for not more than a year. Moreover, if they or any one else in the country refuse when questioned to tell an official about a potato loot—legger of whose activities they have knowledge, they may be fined $1,000 and be imprisoned for a year. And, as if the act had not threatened to fine and imprison enough persons, the purchaser of illegally produced potatoes is equally guilty with the seller.

Other farming communities may not defy the government as brazenly as the New Jersey group, but there is no question but that the rebellion will proceed virtually wherever potatoes are grown and sold. The small farmer is not likely to accept willingly the quota imposed by the secretary of agriculture, nor, if he is ineligible to grow potatoes, it is probable that he will restrain his impulse to plant them if the spirit moves. No more is the housewife likely to insist on properly packaged and stamped potatoes when right around the corner or down the lane is a farmer who will sell her a sack without the stamps for a lower price.

If the government attempts to enforce the act, particularly outside of the regions where potatoes are cultivated on a large scale, it is likely to be forced to recognize its importance in the face of popular rebellion on a manner which, to the common citizen, seems to be no concern whatever of the government. The humble potato may yet achieve the position that tea once held in the popular imagination, though in the case of a government as sensitive to popular indignation as ours there is no probability that the potato rebellion will go as far as did that in which tea was involved.—Hartford (Ill.) Courant.

Trapping Isle Royale Moose

The live-trapping and transfer of not to exceed 100 moose on Isle Royale during the current fall and winter at an estimated cost of approximately $8,000 were authorized by the State Conservation commission at its September meeting.

Definite arrangements as to the personnel in charge, the base of operations, supplies and labor are expected to be made after the return from Isle Royale of Paul Hickie, mammalogist of the Game Division, who has been making tentative preparations for winter moose trapping work. "The program for the coming fall and winter will be conducted on a much larger scale than last winter," said H. D. Ruhl, chief of the Game Division. "Obviously more extensive plans and preparations are necessary."

"It is a fortunate circumstance that a CCC camp has been established at Siskiwit bay, since it is practically assured that labor from this camp can be made available to the Department for the construction of moose live-traps and the building of corrals. "The matter of transporting moose that have been live-trapped remains to be settled, but there are several possibilities now being investigated. One of these is the former United States coast guard cutter Seminole. This vessel is not on a regular schedule now, but may be available for a special trip if there is sufficient freight to warrant."

"As yet we do not know the number of moose, if any, that can be live-trapped and transferred to the mainland before the close of navigation. That will depend to some extent on the availability of conveyance as well as success in trapping." The Consolidated Power & Light Co. of Minnesota, which operates a pulpwood camp on Isle Royale, has given every indication of co-operating with the department by sharing use of camp physician, nurse, hospital, radio and boarding men at about cost, Ruhl says.

Among the Clerks

(By J. Wellington Bumsted)

I was just a little bit disappointed not to see many of the "hired help" on the Niagara Falls excursion trip. Don't know if it was a case of finance or wisdom—for the Niagara crew is still going around looking like a flag pole sifter the tenth day. Had a swell time tho, all of us who took the leap. Most of us amused ourselves by sitting around and watching the rest of its making fools of ourselves, for, in spite of the fact that beer was 20 cents a bottle on the train, we could still see lots of fellows who were happily unaware of their destination. Most of them carried their own flasks of TNT right along with them and those who didn't could always find an eager newlywed who was glad to treat the crowd.

Clara Atkinson took the train as far as Detroit, where she was a guest Sunday of Miss Norma Pray. Monday she left for Bay City where she will spend the week visiting relatives. She will probably look like a flag pole sifter when she gets back, too.

The newly-wedded Billy LaGrows made a very prim trip to the Falls. Both seemed to be enjoying themselves and our Bill was very much himself. The young couple stopped off at Detroit on their way back and will visit relatives there this week.

"Dynamite" Johnson is back on the beat once more and, strange to say, appears to be the same old Wally that he was when he left. Mrs. Nixon-Johnson is being welcomed back and congratulated by the lady friends.

Lionel (Charlie) McLain enjoyed a vacation Monday and Tuesday from his strenuous duties at Spikes which he spent at St. Helen.

Personal and Social

Mrs. Louise Irland has been on the sick list.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Dawson of Detroit spent last week end with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Madsen.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hanson had Mr. and Mrs. Guy Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Alton Conklin of Bay City as guests Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Younken and children of Detroit spent the weekend visiting Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rasmussen.

Mrs. William Wallace and son Clifford, of Roscommon, were the guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Colleen.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Heath and Mr. and Mrs. James Cameron drove over to Lewiston Sunday, where they spent the afternoon.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kernosky drove over to Kingsley, where they visited at the home of Leon Taylor.

Mrs. D. L. Wurzburg and little daughter left Sunday for Northport to visit her mother-in-law, Mrs. Eva Wurzburg for a couple of weeks.

Paul Schroeder spent the week end with Mrs. Schroeder in Grand Rapids, where she is a guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. French.

George Wolff, who has been transferred to Kalkaska from Camp Higgins, spent the week end with Mrs. Wolff at Higgins Lake.

Guests over the week end of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fournier were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith and Mrs. Shirley Ammond and daughters Genieve and Doris of Saginaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wakeley had as their guests over Sunday the latter's mother and sister, Mrs. Sarah Beausom and Mrs. Maude Thurber, also Mr. and Mrs. Fuhr and Mrs. Lucy Morrison, all from West Branch.

Mrs. Earl Madsen and daughter Patsy returned from Detroit Saturday. Both report having had a wonderful trip. They attended the State Fair, visited Ford's Greenfield Village and Canada besides various other places of much interest.

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Strait, of Detroit, were guests Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Vallad, stopping off enroute to the Soo. Rev. Strait is a former Grayling pastor, having been a pastor of the Free Methodist Church twenty years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Vallad and daughter Betty Lee, accompanied by the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Vallad, drove to Houghton Lake, Friday evening, where they spent the evening visiting Mr. and Mrs. Norman Vallad and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Papendick, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Otto Peterson, spent the week end at Fife Lake, where they were the guests of Mrs. Papendick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clifton Newell, and sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Max Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Hoesli and son Clarence, accompanied by John Anderson spent Sunday at Flint where they visited Miss Vivia Hoesli. Mr. Anderson was a guest of his sons Fred and Harold, also visiting Mrs. Anderson who has been visiting there for some time.

Miss Katherine Mallinger, of Higgins Lake, has completed her training at the Saginaw General Hospital, having graduated last week. Mrs. Marie Mallinger, son Joseph and daughter Marie, drove down to attend the graduation exercises and were accompanied home by Miss Katherine, who will visit them for a week.

Mrs. Earl Broadbent was hostess, last Thursday afternoon, to the "Our Gang" sewing club. After the regular business meeting had been held, the members enjoyed playing Keno, with prizes going to Mrs. Wilber Broadbent, Mrs. Sherman Neal and Mrs. Barton Wakeley. The penny prize was captured by Mrs. Laura Parker.

Honoring Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson, whose marriage was solemnized last week at Cadillac, a lovely party was given by the former's mother, Mrs. William Johnson Saturday evening at her home in Roscommon. After a very enjoyable evening had been spent, a very lovely lunch was served by the hostess. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were presented with many nice gifts.

Little Bessie Wakeley daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wakeley returned from the hospital in Ann Arbor—Sunday to spend a few weeks before going back to have the cast removed from her arm. Bessie fell and injured her arm some time ago and in spite of all the good care she had in fact set in making it necessary for her to go to Ann Arbor for an operation.

The "Friday Club" was royally entertained last week by Mrs. Middle LaMotte, who, although she is not a member of the club, opened her home for the social meeting. Keno was enjoyed with prizes being won by Mrs. Edna McEvers, Mrs. Edwin Chalker, Mrs. Middle LaMotte, Mrs. Neal Mathews and Miss Effie Hunter. A lovely lunch was served by the committee.

GOVERNMENT CARS FACE STATE CHECK

Applications for 1936 automobile plates for municipally owned cars will be carefully examined by the Department of State, it was announced Thursday. The cost of license plates for cars owned by the state or any municipality, including counties, cities, villages, and school districts, is only 50 cents for each vehicle, regardless of size.

Instances have been discovered in which these 50 cent plates have been issued on application of municipalities which in fact did not own them. Because of this State Department officials are warning that applications for such 1936 plates in which any question may arise as to the car's actual ownership, should be filed in ample time to permit investigation of the car's exact status. Some plates have been confiscated, the owners of the cars being compelled to pay the regular tax.

From 10,000 to 12,000 sets of these plates are issued annually. State Department officials believe that all but "a small percentage" of applicants are actually entitled to them. On advice of Harry S. Toy, Attorney General, however, the practice of issuing "government" plates on application of school boards in districts where children are transported, will be stopped unless the boards actually own the vehicle.

The term "owning" in this connection includes exclusive of a motor vehicle, through lease or otherwise, for a period of more than 30 days. The device of a unit of government leasing motor vehicles and thus legally applying for 50 cent plates, is rarely resorted to for the reason that these units dislodge responsibility of ownership in the event of accidents from which costly lawsuits may arise.

The country hopes for much from the big work relief appropriation, but what many seem to want is relief from any work.

High Priced Acreage Brings Big Oil Well

Isabella Oil Development Company's Strait No. 1, located in Sec. 34 of Ferris township, Montcalm county, brought in recently, is one of the rich new strikes in the central Michigan field which has aroused interest and enthusiasm in Michigan oil production to its highest pitch.

The intensive drilling program of the summer is daily adding to the state's oil production figures, as many new wells are completed.

The Strait No. 1 was chiefly notable up to the time of its drilling in, because it was located on the highest priced acreage in Michigan's oil history.

Isaiah Leebove, head of the Isabella Oil Development Company, created a sensation when he paid $50,000 cash bonus to the Daily Crude Oil Company for the 160 acre lease on which this gusher is located. Extending the Crystal-Ferris field a half mile north, the well is indicative of one of the largest oil pools in Michigan.

The ever-widening fields will attract thousands of visitors during the State's big Oil and Gas Exposition week at Mt. Pleasant, September 23-28.

IDEAS OFTEN WRONG ABOUT DAIRY FEEDS

Alfalfa Given Too Little Credit, Cottonseed Not Injurious To Cows

Tests made of rations for dairy cows show that many generally accepted ideas concerning these feeds are wrong, according to the dairy husbandry department at Michigan State College.

One of the commonest mistakes concerns the value of alfalfa hay, as many feeders think that, even when sufficient quantities of alfalfa are fed to supply all necessary protein, the protein is not the right kind.

Two equal lots of dairy cows were fed at the College to settle this argument. One lot received ground yellow corn, ground oats, wheat bran, cottonseed meal, oil meal, salt, and steamed bone meal. The other cows were fed a mixture of ground oats, ground rolled oats, alfalfa leaf meal, and common salt.

The feeding period extended over a period of four months. The cows were as nearly equal as possible in production ability. The cows fed the complex grain mixture produced nine pounds more of butterfat and 304 pounds less of milk than those on the oat and alfalfa mixture. The total production for the cows on the simple mixture was 27,186 pounds of milk and 852 pounds of butterfat. Maintenance of body weights was equal on the two rations.

Another misconception about dairy feeds is the belief that cottonseed meal injures dairy animals if fed in large quantities. This has been disproved by trials at the College and by tests made by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. No injury to the general health of animals fed large amounts of cottonseed meal nor any udder troubles were caused by the meal even when the feeding continued over long periods.

Bassoon Is Called "The Clown of the Orchestra"

The bassoon is an instrument of great antiquity. Its name suggests an instrument taking the bass part, and that is exactly what it does. In Italian its name is "fagotto," which means "stick" in English. Now it is easy to see how this instrument came by its name, for it really resembles a bundle of five sticks, which, when fitted together, form a wooden tube about eight feet long.

The tube is doubled back upon itself, the shorter joint extending about two-thirds of the length of the longer part, whereby the height of the instrument is reduced to about four feet. A curved brass tube which ends in a double reed mouthpiece is attached. The tones produced by the bassoon are often warm and mellow, but sometimes they are so comical as to have earned the name "the clown of the orchestra" for this instrument, notes a writer in the Washington Post.

Rapid passages, on the bassoon sound best in its natural key of G or closely related keys. Trills are practicable, though not on every note. In general the tone-color of the bassoon is so striking that the composer need only write passages of straightforward character for it, without making it do technical tricks.

The bassoon has been a favorite with nearly all the great masters. Beethoven uses it largely in his symphonies, writing everywhere for it independent parts of great originality. Where Beethoven used the bassoon in rather grotesque fashion, Mendelssohn handled it more daintily. The latter composer gave the bassoon many bits of intimate humor in his "Midsummer Night's Dream" music.

Some Games Are Too Old to Be Traced to Source

The origin of games is lost in antiquity and some which are still played are too old to be traced to their source. Herodotus tells us that the Lydians, that most of them were invented by the Lydians as a palliative at a time of acute famine which lasted 15 years. The Lydians decided to play games one day and eat on the next. They claimed to be the inventors of many popular Greek games, including knuckle-bones, ball and dice.

During the excavation of the palace of Minos in Crete an ornate backgammon board was discovered. The Greeks played a game called pnyx, which was adopted by the Romans and became the Twelve Line game, and survives today as backgammon. Subsequently Roman officials—fronked upon games involving dice because they led to heavy gambling.

Chess is reputed to be of Indian origin, and it must be the game which has been played longest with out any alteration of rules. Since casting was introduced in the Sixteenth century.

McKinley Sunday School Man

The late President William McKinley attended a school managed by Presbyterian and Methodist clergymen. When but twenty-four he was chosen superintendent of the Sunday school. How deep-seated was his religious instinct was made manifest when, at Buffalo, September 6, 1901, he was mortally wounded by an assassin. "It is God's way," he said. "His will, not ours, be done." John Hay declared: "President McKinley showed the world how a Christian gentleman should live and how a Christian could die."

Grand Ribbon Decoration

A grand ribbon is simply a decoration of honor conferred upon a citizen of the United States by a foreign government or foreign ruler. The Department of States says that any decoration of this kind may not be received by any person holding an office of profit or trust under the United States as provided in a section of the Constitution. When such honor is conferred by a foreign government it is held by the Department of State for the recipient until such time as he may give up his position.

Old-Time Conveyance

Not many years ago on the plains of Argentina, the gauchos, or cowboys, used a unique method of conveying their wives to and from town. The lady would sit on a dried horsehide while the gentleman, mounted on his horse, would drag it along the ground by a long rope tied to his saddle. All she had to do was hang on tightly when going over the bumps and keep from choking on the dust stirred up by the horse.—Collier's Weekly.

DEADBEATS

As the belief that the world owes everybody a living spreads and strengthens, the number of deadbeats becomes greater and more bold. "Where is it?"

"Here," said Lillian. "I pasted it on my book to keep it from blowing away."—New York Sun.

Data To Be Sought On Drivers' Cards

Owners of automobiles, who apply for 1936 license plates, will be asked one question on the application blank which has never been asked in previous years. The question will be: "When does your operator's license expire?"

The decision to embody this question on the application blanks for 1936 license plates has been made by Louis K. Morony, Director of the Motor Vehicle Division of the Department of State. The decision was endorsed by the executive committee of the Michigan Safety and Traffic Directors' Association, meeting recently in the East Lansing headquarters of the Michigan State Police.

The original proposal included recommendations that the giving of this information be made a condition of the issuance of the plate, Morony, however, chose to include the question merely as a device for reminding owners and operators that their operators' licenses have expiration dates on them, under the uniform operators' license act of 1931. Applicants for licenses will be asked to give this information merely as a matter of cooperation with the department.

With some 200,000 operators of cars being unlicensed today, the expectation is that the majority of them, being forgetful rather than intentionally unlicensed, will thus be reminded of their delinquency. It is the belief that virtually no one will have the temerity to ask for a license plate while actually signing his name to a statement that his operator's license has expired.

Exemptions Listed For Chain Tax Law

With collections of Michigan's chain-store and counter-tax law proceeding under full legal authority as the result of the recent state supreme court opinion upholding the act of 1933, the Department of State has issued regulations governing collection of the levy, together with a detailed explanation of those classes of chain establishments exempted from the tax.

The primary factor in determining immunity from the tax is that lines of business dealing in service rather than in goods, are ruled exempt. Included in this classification are: barber shops, beauty shops, farmers operating more than one roadside stand for the sale of their own products, garages, ice docks, laundries, monument works, music conservatories, opticians and other professional firms, plumbers, restaurants, shoe repair shops, taxicab lines, funeral directors and used car lots.

With reference to the exemption for used car lots, it is pointed out in the regulations that these places of business are already licensed under the provisions of a 1921 law, and that they could not be subjected to two occupational taxes, the prior levy being a privilege tax for the carrying on of their business.

Included in the regulations for issuance of the chain store license, are the provisions that if any store or counter which is part of a chain, is in existence or placed in operation during the period from April 1 to Sept. 30, a full year's license must be obtained at half price.

The chain tax law makes no provision, however, for refunding of any license fee paid for operation of one or more stores or counters which cease operation before expiration of the license period.

ASK MANY SERVICES FROM WEEKLY PRESS

Survey Shows Readers Scan Local Papers Closer Than Other Types of Publications

Michigan Weekly newspapers furnish their subscribers not only with the home town happenings but are depended upon for their readers to keep them in touch with the latest developments in farming, as shown by a comparison of inquiries at Michigan State College from readers of bulletins, journals, and weekly papers.

The agricultural engineering department at the College published an article on the use of a gravel-asphalt mixture for floors in certain types of farm buildings. The story was given in detail in a College bulletin and was printed in condensed form in Michigan weekly newspapers at the same time. Later, the story was used by three national farm journals.

The bulletin was sent to 10,000 farmers. Seven of them wrote to the College asking for more information about the floor building material. The national farm journals have hundreds of thousands of readers but only 96 of them asked for more information about the gravel-asphalt mixture.

The story run in Michigan weekly newspapers created enough interest among their readers to cause 192 of them to write the agricultural engineering department for further details. Letters from the subscribers to the home town papers came from as far away as California. That is an indication that home news is the best news and when someone moves away from a small town it is more than likely that the local paper follows them to their new residence.

Michigan State College knows the importance of the weekly papers in acquainting citizens of the State with the latest news about agriculture and home economics. Those newspapers have cooperated with the College for nearly 20 years in printing news material sent from East Lansing each week.

Jeanne D'Arc Led the Parade

WHEN on Memorial day the troops marched down Michigan boulevard in Chicago, Jeanne d'Arc proudly led the parade, and was vociferously cheered all along the route. She is a little black French mare, twenty-eight years old, and through the terrible days of Belleau Wood and Vaux, where the German drive on Paris was halted in June, 1918, she carried the major of the Twelfth field artillery, Second division, U. S. A., with never a sign of faltering. Then she went through the sanguinary engagements at Soissons, at Point-a-Mouzon, at St. Mihiel, at Blanc Mont Masif, and in the Meuse-Argonne offensive. She is believed to be the sole survivor of twenty overseas horses which were brought to the United States after the World war. Jeanne is now tenderly cared for in the One Hundred Twenty-second field artillery stables in Chicago.

Right From Mine to His Furnace

WILLIAM LEAVER of Shawnee, Ohio, found that, adjoining the cellar of his home, his permanent supply of winter fuel had been stored for him by nature many centuries ago. He has his own private mine opening into the basement. When the coal bin is empty he simply goes in with a pickaxe and lamp and comes back with all that is necessary to keep the furnace going.

THE MERRY LITTLE BREEZES HELP LIGHTFOOT

COULD you have seen the hunter with the terrible gun and Lightfoot the Deer that morning on which the hunting season opened which the hunter hunting Lightfoot. You see, Lightfoot was behind the hunter so as to keep track of him. As long as he knew just where the hunter was he felt reasonably safe.

The Merry Little Breezes are the best friends that Lightfoot has, about he moves in the direction from which the Merry Little Breezes may be blowing. He knows that they will bring to him warning of any danger which may lie in that direction.

Now the hunter with the terrible gun who was looking for Lightfoot knew all this, for he was wise in the ways of Lightfoot and of the other little people of the Green Forest. When he had entered the Green Forest that morning he had first of all made sure of the direction from which the Merry Little Breezes were coming. Then he had begun to hunt in that direction, knowing that his scent would be carried behind him. It is more than likely that he would have reached the hiding place of Lightfoot the Deer before the latter would have known that he was in the Green Forest had it not been for Sammy Jay's warning.

When he reached the tangle of fallen trees behind which Lightfoot had been hiding he worked around it slowly and with the greatest care, holding his terrible gun ready for use instantly should Lightfoot leap out. Presently he found Lightfoot's footprints in the softground and studying them he knew that Lightfoot had known of his coming.

"It was that confounded Jay," muttered the hunter. "Lightfoot heard him and knew what it meant. I know what he has done. He has circled round so as to get behind me and get my scent. It is a clever trick, a very clever trick, but two can play at that game. I'll just try that little trick myself."

So the hunter in his turn made a wide circle back and presently there was none of the dreaded man-smell among the scents which the Merry Little Breezes brought to Lightfoot. Lightfoot had lost track of the hunter.

City Manager Miller is a pretty clever schemer when it comes to saving money. The roadsides thru the city were, in several places, rebuilt with gravel, the cost for which would have been about $800. By inviting local citizens and county and state road working crews to help with a road bee on these jobs, it has cost the city only about $200. And it's a good job well done and was much needed. In several places the side roads were so soft that it wasn't anything strange to find an auto stuck. Certainly on a state owned highway this wasn't so hot, but now that trouble has been nicely remedied, thanks to Mr. Miller's enterprise.

A chimney fire at Mercy hospital at 8:45 Monday morning was so hot that it practically damaged the entire chimney. Soot accumulations from their oil burner caught on fire and soon the shaft was a raging furnace, with fire shooting out of the top and smoke pouring from between the brick even down to the bottom tiers of the 50 foot structure. Fire Chief Oliver Cody condemned the chimney for further use and now it will be necessary to take it down and rebuild a new one. This will cost about $250.00. The Palmer Fire Insurance Agency and Sales agency's companies carry the insurance and the former agency, by using the phone, had an adjuster on the job the same day and it is expected that the loss will be taken care of promptly. Contractors say it will take a month to rebuild the shaft properly.

Herman Hanson Passed Away

Herman Hanson, son of Mrs. Hansine Hanson, passed away Tuesday morning at the Hurley hospital in Flint, following an illness of only a week. Word of his death from pneumonia came as a shock to his many Grayling friends, since he had been in the best of health until this time.

The deceased was born in Grayling July 24, 1906, and graduated from Grayling High school with the class of '23. Always a great favorite among his friends, he enjoyed a place in High school activities that goes to very few.

Following his graduation Herman played in a local orchestra. He had a deep feeling for music and it meant a great deal to him. He possessed real talent with the violin and people loved to listen to his playing. For a vocation he chose pharmacy and graduated in that profession from Ferris Institute at Big Rapids. At the time of his death he was a valued employee of the Carpenter Road Pharmacy in Flint.

About six years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Laura Penny of Grand Blanc, Michigan, and the young couple had made their home in Flint ever since.

Surviving, besides the young widow are his mother, Mrs. Hansine Hanson, and two sisters, Ingeborg and Mildred, and brothers Ronnow and Marius, the latter residing in Flint.

The funeral is being held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Danish Lutheran church, following services at the home at 2:00 o'clock. The remains will be laid to rest in Elmwood cemetery.

The Avalanche extends deepest sympathy to the bereaved family.

Camp News

CAMP HIGGINS.

Since the new mess hall has been occupied one rated man has been assigned to each table to have supervision over it. In the near future meals eaten in the mess hall will be from plates and silver instead of the mess kits.

The Higgins Lake state nursery expects to supply 8,000,000 pine seedlings to 10 of the Michigan state forests this fall, according to Ed. Zettle, who is in charge. This large planting program will be started in a few days. Men from the Higgins Lake camp do the work at the nursery, sometimes supplying 75 to 80 men when there is much work to do.

A side walk of either gravel or cinders approximately eight feet wide is to be constructed from barracks six to the mess hall, and another walk from barracks three to headquarters.

Capt. Fox, executive officer for the Camp Custer CCC district headquarters, was a caller at this camp Friday. He was accompanied by Mrs. Fox.

Gerald Dalrymple, hospital orderly, has received employment as first aid man for a state transient camp to be established in the upper peninsula. Harry Nystrom from Cadillac, his understudy has been promoted to Dalrymple's rating as assistant leader.

Harold Synolds, an enrollee, was taken to Mercy Hospital, in Grayling, for an appendix operation Friday by the sub-district surgeon, Lieut. Katzman. He was assisted by Lieut. Stone, medical officer of Camp Kalkaska.

Foteman Paul Schroeder and Alvin Maubetsch have been temporarily transferred to Camp Pioneer to take charge of planting crews working in the Higgins Lake state forest.

There was an enrollment of 36 in a new first and class started last week, and 10 in a class in English composition.

Indications are that 39 members of the company will be discharged the 30th of the month, declining reenrollment privileges. None of those leaving has a rating. It is expected recruiting to fill vacancies will start by the middle of October.

Lieut. and Mrs. G. M. Katzman left the first of the week for a short leave of absence which they will spend in Peoria and Chicago.

A cellar under the supply building, which has been constructed after working hours through the good will of enrollees, and an entrance arch over the road into camp, have been completed.

CAMP AUSABLE

Two enrollees, Fred Jones and Maurice Benjamin spent a very pleasant week end on the excursion to Niagara Falls.

Twenty-five men were sent out on a fire call which proved to be a false alarm late in the afternoon of Sunday, September 22.

The eyes have been placed in the Thunder Bird which hangs at the entrance of Camp Ausable. The eyes are reflectors and look very realistic at night.

Enrollees who planned on leaving on the last day of this month which is the end of this enlistment period will have to stay until the fifteenth of October. This is due to an order from Corp. Area Headquarters at Chicago.

A class in Forestry is being organized by Mr. Buchen and will have its first meeting this week. Outline maps of this county have been made and will be used by the class in the course.

Professor Walter Morofsky of Michigan State College who is connected with the Forestry department making a study of the feeding of game fish left Camp Ausable Monday, Sept. 23, for the Upper Peninsula of Michigan. While there he will stop at CCC camps of the Fort Brady district to do the same type of research work.

The age limit for enrollment in the CCC for the next period will be reduced from 18 to 17 which will provide for an additional 40,000 possible enrollees in the United States.

Camp Ausable received a visit the fore part of this week from George A. Young, who is in charge of the Michigan Emergency Conservation Work, at Lansing, Michigan.

Camp Ausable was without lights for two nights last week. A speedy trip to Bay City, a rejuvenated generator and fast work by the mechanics of this company put them back in working order.

Lieut. Barr visited Camps Fife Lake, Kalkaska and Au Sable last Thursday.

One hundred fifty enrollees attended services by Chaplain J. L. Connolly Thursday night.

HARTWICK PINES

Captain Niles Bryant is this week on leave from his duties.

Lt. Marden Pierson returned from leave last Friday. He was accompanied by his mother, his brother and Mrs. Page. They are stopping at the Saunders cottage at Lake Margrethe.

Mrs. Saunders who accompanied Lieut. Pierson to Chicago last week, returned with the party Friday.

Enrollee Paul Ayotte was discharged Monday to accept employment.

Romulus Mathes and Harry Robinson accompanied Mr. Smith on Saturday to his home in Coldwater.

Painting on the barracks is being done daily in the enrollees spare time. All battens, boards, doors and sashes are receiving a coat of green paint.

New classes in our schedule include: American Problems, Facts about Michigan and public speaking.

The camp now has two tennis courts, the products of enrollees spare time work. Contests with the racket are staged daily.

Work is going forward on the new water line. We hope it will not be long before the new well will be put into operation.

People Will Decide On Potato Control

Farmers and Consumers To Present Views In Washington October 3.

No program for the control of potato production in Michigan nor in the United States will be inaugurated until the farmers who grow potatoes and the consumers who eat them have had a fair opportunity to express their views at a public hearing to be held in Washington, Oct. 3, according to R. J. Baldwin, administrator for AAA in the state.

Michigan representatives who will go to Washington will be Claude L. Nash, Michigan State College, and Harry Riley, Belaire, Michigan. It is probable that F. P. Hibst, Cadillac, manager of the Michigan Potato Growers exchange will also attend the hearing. Representatives for consumers are to be selected by their organizations.

In the event that it is determined at the public hearing to have a potato adjustment control plan, the plan may take one of two different forms. There may be a voluntary acreage control, or there may be a form of control through marketing. There is also the possibility that no adjustment plan will be adopted for potatoes.

Funds for the administering of the Act as passed by Congress were included in the third deficiency bill which failed to come up for carrying the Act into effect.

The Act itself has two titles, one of which provided for the acreage adjustment and the other for adjustment through marketing allotments. Neither is in effect now or will be until after the public hearing has provided evidence of the wishes of the people of the United States.

Use Right Cleaner To Avoid Accident

Safe Fluid Can Be Used To Replace Gasoline or Naphtha in Michigan Homes

Accidents caused by the use of naphtha or gasoline for cleaning clothes or fabrics in homes can be avoided if carbon tetrachloride is used as a cleaning fluid in place of these inflammable liquids, according to the home economics division at Michigan State College.

Carbon tetrachloride is more expensive than the more commonly used naphtha or gasoline, but the cost of the safe cleaning agent can be kept down if the liquid in which fabrics are cleaned is saved and filtered after use. All cleaning fluids, whether inflammable or not, should be kept out of doors. The fumes are unpleasant and sometimes harmful.

In cleaning the fabrics on upholstered furniture, the grease spots should be removed first with one of the grease solvents. A good soap solution then should be used. The solution may be made from three medium bars of mild soap or one and one-half pounds of soap flakes. Dissolve the soap in two quarts of boiling water and later add two more quarts of hot water. One-quarter pound borax and three-fourths cup of household ammonia complete the solution except when a little bluing is needed for materials with white in the pattern.

The soap solution should be whipped with a Dover egg beater until a good suds is obtained. Use the suds for cleaning, and apply with a circular motion. When the material is clean, rinse the suds off with clear water. Using the suds prevents dampening the fabric too much.

Rugs may be cleaned in the same way, and can be left on the floor while they are being cleaned. The suds will not moisten the rug too much if carefully applied. Only a small portion of a rug or of upholstered fabric should be cleaned at one time. All the soap should be removed by rinsing. A brush will straighten the pile of the fabric or rug after cleaning.

Many draperies can be washed with mild soap and water but those which are lined or of types which do not launder well should be dry cleaned. Carbon tetrachloride is excellent for this cleaning. When buying carbon tetrachloride, ask for the technical grade.

ENJOYING THE COUNTRY

Tuesday being such a fine summer day, we with Charles E. Moore drove to Lovells via the Kellogg bridge, stopping off to make a few friendly calls among the North Branch residents. Reginald Squire had already returned to Cleveland so we missed him. He has a very attractive home north of Dam Four.

At Lovells we found John Sunday right on the job just as faithfully as he has been for the past 27 years. While the hotel business hasn't been so big this summer, he said, still they had a fine store trade and did a good business. A number of the villagers were in the store and we enjoyed a chat with them.

Fred T. Rowe, a retired railroad engineer, owns a home near the Lovells bridge and enjoys his retirement. He never got over the travel habit and still takes a few trips about the country occasionally. He showed us an unusual cluster of five ears of Country Gentleman corn all growing with one husk. Clarence Stillwagon too dropped in while we were at the store. Edgar Douglas in sleeveless shirt, looked fine and said he was getting along O. K.

Time to hurry back to Grayling came, so we gathered up soon and before we had time to slip into the dining room for a hello to Mrs. Douglas. And we would have liked to called on Grandma Douglas whose 90 odd years doesn't keep her from enjoying friends who call to see her.

MINUTE MAKE-UPS By V. V.

Complexions are always washed or creamed in a thorough cleansing process when blackheads appear. But if complexions were cleaned daily with a brush having firm but not stiff bristles, the dirt would not work into the pores and become insidious blackheads.
